Notes

Jingle Fa La La Holiday is a festive winter piece incorporating Jingle Bells and Deck the Hall, two of the most joyful favorites of the season. Tying the two carols together is a fun-to-sing tongue twister melody, acting as a partner song to Jingle Bells. The vocal lines in Part II are mostly stepwise in motion, making that melody very accessible to young singers new to singing harmony.

Swing the tempo and have fun with this cheerful new addition to your holiday concert!

About the Composer

Sonja Poorman is a choral music director, teacher, and composer. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in choral/general music education from Ball State University and her Master of Music degree from the University of Miami. She has been employed at numerous churches in Florida and Texas where she directed children's, youth, and adult church choirs and handbell ensembles. She also taught middle and high school choral music in Indiana and private voice, piano and flute. In addition to teaching and directing, she has extensive music publishing experience in production and editing. Currently, she is Chancel Music Minister at St. Philip's United Methodist Church in Round Rock, Texas. She has written, co-written, or arranged many school and sacred choral compositions which have been published by various publishers. She and her husband Randy reside in Austin, Texas, and her son Brandon is a freshman commercial music major at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee.
